

LIVE WEBINAR

COVID 19 and Acute Pancreatitis – What have we learnt?

Webinar organised by the Freeman Hospital, Newcastle Upon Tyne, UK

The Newcastle Upon Tyne Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust & the Freeman Hospital are pleased to invite you to a webinar on Covid-19 and pancreatitis.

23rd March 2021

6:00pm – 7:30pm (GMT)

Register now

1.5 CPD Hours - Ref: RCSEd02560

AGENDA

- | | |
|-----------------|--|
| 6:00pm | Opening remarks & Chair
Mr. Sanjay Pandanaboyana |
| 6:00pm – 6:20pm | SARS-CoV-2 and acute pancreatitis, a new etiology or an innocent bystander?
Dr Enrique De-Madaria |
| 6:20pm – 6:40pm | SARS-CoV-2 & acute pancreatitis: Final results of the COVID PAN collaborative study
Dr Manu Nayar |
| 6:40pm – 7:00pm | Effects of SARS-CoV-2 on Pancreas Centers: What's the danger?
Dr Gabriele Capurso |
| 7:00 – 7.30pm | Live Q&A Session (Panel) |

LIVE WEBINAR COVID 19 and Acute Pancreatitis – What have we learnt?

SPEAKERS

Dr Enrique De-Madaria

Gastroenterologist, pancreatologist, clinical research on acute and chronic pancreatitis. Alicante University General Hospital, Spain.

Gastroenterologist, pancreatologist, clinical research on acute and chronic pancreatitis. Alicante University General Hospital, Spain. President of the Spanish Association of Gastroenterology (AEG). Former President of the Spanish Association of Pancreatology. Awards: UEG Rising Star Award 2017, UEG Social Media Ambassador Award 2019.

Dr. Manu K Nayar

Consultant Gastroenterologist and Pancreaticobiliary Physician; HPB Unit, Freeman Hospital, Newcastle upon Tyne; UK

Manu Nayar is a full time Consultant Gastroenterologist at the Freeman Hospital, Newcastle upon Tyne since 2008. His subspecialty area of interest is hepatobiliary and pancreatic medicine. This includes endoscopic management i.e. therapeutic ERCP and endoscopic ultrasound and also management of benign & malignant pancreaticobiliary diseases. He has been the director of endoscopy and the training centre lead for Newcastle upon Tyne Hospital. He is the President of the UK & Ireland EUS society & He is a committee member of the pancreatic society of GB & Ireland, the BSG endoscopy section & the European EUS organisation. He is involved in national trials relating to pancreaticobiliary (PB) endoscopy and is well published in this field.

Mr Sanjay Pandanaboyana

Consultant HPB and transplant surgeon, HPB and Transplant Unit, Freeman hospital, Newcastle upon Tyne, UK

Mr Sanjay Pandanaboyana is a consultant HPB surgeon at the Freeman hospital in Newcastle upon Tyne. Sanjay underwent his higher surgical training in the Scotland followed by HPB fellowships in Edinburgh and Leeds. His clinical areas of interests are pancreatic cancer and pancreatitis with particular emphasis on PROMS and QOL. He has a strong research portfolio and currently holds a position of Associate professor in the University of Auckland, New Zealand and Senior Clinical Lecturer at Newcastle University.

Dr Gabriele Capurso

Gastroenterologist, pancreatologist, clinical and translational research on pancreatic neoplasms and pancreatitis. Deputy Director S. Raffaele research Hospital Pancreas Center, Milan, Italy.

Gastroenterologist, pancreatologist, clinical and translational research on pancreatic neoplasms and pancreatitis. Deputy Director S. Raffaele research Hospital Pancreas Center, Milan, Italy. Former Secretary of the Italian Association of Pancreatology and European Pancreatic Club board member.

Register now